

Rock and Roll Parents

I thought my parents were just like everyone else's parents until I discovered their secret past.

One day, my family and I were packing and cleaning up for Chinese New Year. Then, to my surprise, I discovered that there were some old photo albums stored inside a wooden box which held tons of pictures of my parents' past performances. What a big discovery!

In the pictures, I saw that my dad was a drummer. He looked quite handsome then and was very much into music. He was wearing a leather jacket with some spikes all over it. So I assumed that he must have been playing in a rock and roll band.

I almost had a heart attack when I saw my mom's look when she was young. She was wearing dozens of earrings and had pierced a lot of holes in her eye brows. I couldn't stop laughing. She was a rock and roll singer in the same band that my dad was in.

I went to confront my parents. They told me that those pictures were taken about twenty years ago when they did that for a living. They performed three to five times a week at different lounges. They both loved music but they didn't make a lot of money because they weren't famous. My dad was good at writing songs for my mom to sing.

Finally, they ended this band because they wanted to start a family. They needed to have a steady income so they had to give up their passion. And here I am. I used to think that my dad was a regular banker and my mom an ordinary office lady.
